WOMEN IN IT SECURITY

Leona Lassak is a PhD student within the Mobile Security Group and part of the state-funded interdisciplinary graduate school SecHuman – Security for Humans in Cyberspace at Ruhr-Universität Bochum (RUB).

In her research she studies user perceptions, understanding, preferences, and misconceptions of biometric and passwordless authentication. Together with legal scholars, she also explores privacy-friendly solutions for data sharing and data monetization. Before starting her doctoral studies, she completed her bachelor's degree in IT security at RUB in 2019, and her master's degree in 2021.
